

Peripherals

High-tech industry rates top 10 execs

The 10 best executives in the electronics and computer industry, according to an Electronic Business magazine poll:

Edward Botwinick of Timeplex Inc. of Woodcliff Lake, N.J., in communications.

Joseph R. Canlon, president of Compaq Computer Corp. in Houston, in commercial computers.

Wilfred J. Corrigan, chairman of LSI Logic Corp. of Milpitas, Calif., in semiconductors.

Anthony R. Hamilton, president of Hamilton/Avnet Electronics of Los Angeles, in distribution.

John H. Krehbiel, chairman of Molex Inc. of Lisle, Ill., in components.

Kenneth Levy, president of KLA Instruments Corp. of Santa Clara, Calif., in production equipment.

Kenneth H. Olsen, president of Digital Equipment Corp. of Maynard, Mass., in industrial computers.

James L. Patterson, president of Quantum Corp. of Milpitas, Calif., in computer peripherals.

Bernard L. Schwartz, chairman of Loral Corp. of New York, in military electronics.

Source: USA Today, April 4, 1986