SUBJECT:

One of the greatest limiting factors involved in the growth of our company rests with the shortage of technical people. This shortage minimizes the introduction of new products and slows the expansion of old products.

Possibly you can help us in eliminating this shortage. If you know of any people who have experience in the areas listed please forward their names and addresses to me.

Transistor product engineering

Diode product engineering

Integrated circuits product engineering

Semiconductor process development

Circuit designers for our Instrumentation Department

Any people you refer to me will be considered recommendations, therefore you should have some reason for believing they are "better than average" men.

I will appreciate any immediate help you can offer.

Charles E. Sporck
