DIFFERENTIATORS:

- The emphasis on design and clean simple aesthetics
- 1000x faster than conventional web browsing
- Updates in real-time
- Shows what you care about the most
- Curated by people you trust
- Flip through content without waiting—no scrolling required
- Easy-to-view content ranking system (important items larger, less important items smaller)
- Living magazine
- No known competitors

MAIN OBJECTIVES:

- Everything from the logo to the product to the company should have one look and feeling
- Take the trusted editorial process of magazines and newspapers and bring it online
- Eliminate information overload and cluttered interfaces
- Be informative and relevant
- Keep the product simple so non-social media users can use it

TARGET AUDIENCES:

- People who buy the iPad
- Social networkers
- Power users who would use Flipboard as a first pass to more in-depth looks at social media sites, e-mail, etc.
- Mainstream audiences (people who may not even use social media)

LIKES:

- Look of Helvetica Neue
- Clever with a twist
- Black & white with a little red
- Like classic/retro looking logos
 - Coke
 - Radio Flyer
 - Leica
- The timelessness of print (Wall Street Journal and National Geographic)
- Edward Tufte
- Paul Rand
- Stamen Design
- TED

DISLIKES:

- Designs that will not endure
- Bubble/jelly logos
- Cluttered interfaces/webpages
- Products that are not intuitive
